

Glucose is absorbed by the body at a rate proportional to the amount present in the bloodstream. A patient is put on a continuous IV drip of 200mg/min of glucose.

How much glucose is present in the bloodstream after  $t$  minutes?